

COMBINED CHARITIES CAMPAIGN COMMENCES TODAY

Carabins Hold Red Team To 3-3 Tie in Overtime Game at Verdun Arena

Draw Forces Playoff To Determine Champs

By DICK JOSEPH
(Daily Staff Writer)

In one of the roughest and most exciting games of the inter-collegiate hockey year, a battling U of M sextet held the favored McGill Redmen to a 3-3 overtime stalemate, at the Verdun Auditorium Saturday night thus causing a first place deadlock between the Red and White and the Varsity Blues who went down to a surprising 3-2 defeat at the hands of the Gaels from Kingston in the Queen city on Friday eve. A post season sudden death tilt will be held next week-end to determine this year's champion.

It was a comparative unknown who saved the day for the Redmen, as Big Wilf Anderson, from the bluenose country, came through with two clutch tallies to twice overcome one-goal deficits. Brought up to replace the sidelined Bob Broderick, the silent Scot turned in his best performance of the year, playing a solid game on the defence as well as starring at twine denting.

The contest started off at a rugged fast clip, and had it not been for the alert officiating of the referees, might have got out of hand as both squads slugged and chopped at each other as if intent on homicide. Fourteen penalties were dished out in the first two periods alone, including majors to Keith English and LaPerriere for a short-lived skirmish in the second canto.

The Redmen got off to a fast start in the opening frame, and seemed to be well on their way to an easy victory as Johnny Brough netted the rubber from a scramble at the three-minute mark. This seemed to put some life into Les Carabins and they came roaring back to test Jack Geineau on several occasions.

The Red twintender, however, was equal to all eventualities, pulling off some amazing saves, until the dying moments of the stanza when a hard shot by Lalonde gave him no chance. This counter came at a time when both teams were playing shorthanded as the result of a wrestling bout between Doug Heron and Jean Paul Gignac.

The Blue and Gold from over the mountain went one up in the middle session, but this margin was erased by Anderson's first goal after four minutes of the third period. Scoring in the extra frame was even, one apiece, and the game ended with the Redmen pressing hard for that championship tally.

Norway Makes Plans To Receive Canadians

The following letter was received by Maurice Sauve, president of NFCS, from Finn Valeur, president of the Students' Council of the International Committee of the University of Bergen, Norway:

Dear Sir:
We have planned a summer camp for students from all over the world, this summer. The details of the program for the camp are not yet in order, but I am writing to you so early to see what the possibilities are to get Canadian students to come to this camp.

We would be very glad to see five students here this summer, either from Canada or from other countries where Canadians may be pursuing their studies. I hope to hear from you as soon as possible.
Yours truly,
FINN VALEUR.

Candidates Will Travel To Dawson

Dawson students will meet the candidates for the forthcoming SEC elections tonight at 7 p.m. in Theatre 1 of Dawson College. The elections are set to take place on March 5.

A chartered bus for the candidates will leave the McGill Union at 5:15 p.m. for St. Johns. At Dawson, the various candidates will be introduced to the student body from the platform. Candidates for the presidencies of the Students Society and the McGill Union will present their platforms, and it is expected that the Secretary of the McGill Union candidates will also put forward theirs.

Meanwhile, at McGill, a meeting has been scheduled for noon today, in the Union Ballroom, where the candidates for the presidency of the McGill Union will present their platforms.

Another McGill pre-election meeting will take place on Tuesday at 5 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. At this meeting, the Students' Society presidency candidates will present their platforms, and this will be followed by a question period, during which time queries directed at all candidates will be entertained.

WU Meeting Will Amend Constitution

There will be a general meeting of the Women's Union today in R.V.C. at 4:00 p.m., to meet election candidates and amend the constitution.

At this time the various candidates for positions with the Women's Union and the MWSAA will present their platforms and meet the electorate. Voters will have the chance to put any questions they may wish to ask to the candidates.

A quorum of 60 is required before the amendment to the constitution can be passed. The amendment proposes to include the Women's News Editor of The Daily as a non-voting member of the Executive. Until now the Council, in which the executive authority of the Women's Union is vested, has consisted of five officers: President, Vice-President, Treasurer and M.W.S.A.A. representative.

Late Dr. Tory Wills Estate to Education

Ottawa.—(C.U.P.)—The residue of the estate of Dr. H. M. Tory, founder and first president of Carleton College, has been bequeathed to Carleton College, it was learned here recently.

The residue going to Carleton will be about $60,000, along with Dr. Tory's personal library. Among the specific legacies in the will is a $2,000 scholarship for students in Domestic Science at the University of Alberta, which was founded by Dr. Tory in 1918 on the top floor of a schoolhouse.

Dawson to Hold First Athletics Nite Thurs.

Dawson's first Athletics night, scheduled for this Thursday, will feature games, refreshments, and dancing to the music of the West-ernals. The whole affair, initiated by the Dawson Student Council and the Red and White Revue, is under the direction of Jeff Ganten.

Dawson has asked that 300 McGill coeds attend and the response has been fairly good. Girls are requested to make this affair a success and sign the lists in any of the main campus buildings. Tickets are being sold at RVC and in the Arts Building at a cost of 50 cents per person, which includes transportation, admission to the dance and games, and refreshments.

Buses will leave the Roddick Gates at 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. Those who are able to do so are advised to take the 6:30 buses in order to be in time for all the games. Residents will take the 7:30 buses after their supper.

Arts, Science Hold Elections On Wednesday

Women students in Science, who are not in residence will vote in the Chemistry Building. All booths will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Dawson students will vote at the same places as for the Students' Council elections.

Platforms of the presidential candidates will appear in the Daily on Tuesday.

CANDIDATES FOR POST OF S.A.C. REPRESENTATIVES

Milton J. Orr

The Representative should first consider the desires and chief interests of the athletes, coaches, managers, spectators, and all the athletic clubs on our Campus, and would, in this way, be serving the majority of the students. Secondly, he should not favour any particular organization on this Campus, but be they political clubs, fraternities, undergraduate societies, etc. He should foresee that measures passed by the Board should benefit the majority of the students and should always be a step forward in building up Athletics on the Campus.

To perform these functions properly, I feel that the experience that I have gained in Athletics at McGill will stand me in good stead. I am a member of the Students' Athletics Council, Chairman of the Managers' Board, a member of the executive of the Athletics Nights, last year's Manager of our Champion Intercollegiate Boxing Team, and President of Second Year Commerce. This experience, which I have gained playing several years' Football, Hockey, Boxing, Track, and various other sports would help me to see the problems facing

As Students' representative on the Athletic Council, I shall endeavor to have allocated to each Sport an amount of funds proportionate to its importance on the Campus as evidenced by student participation.

The newly-organized Athletics Nights have indeed become the talk of the Inter-collegiate circuit, and I feel certain that these gala sporting occasions, having successfully won their spurs as top University functions during 1946-47, should definitely be high-lighted among McGill's featured attractions next year.

An important part of any representative's platform which attempts to advocate the "Most for All" should be to effect a closer liaison with Dawson College, and I shall not flag nor fail until those fine fellows have been furnished with at least gold-bladed floor-hockey sticks.

Finally, it is my intention to pursue a progressive but conservative policy as regards this important aspect of extra-curricular student activity. To the attainment of this end, I shall adopt the decisions of both the S.E.C. and the University's Executive in an effort to present to each and every student an attractive and harmonious Athletic Programme in the 1947-48 season.

Cheerleaderets CCF Assumes Leadership Of Final Model Parliament

Headed by Prime Minister John A. MacDonald, the CCF Government plans to introduce a bill designed to socialize medicine at the forthcoming Model Parliament, on Wednesday, March 5, at 8 p.m. The session will be held in the Union Ballroom as usual.

Main opposition to the bill will come from the Progressive Conservatives under the leadership of Roy Jackson. They intend to introduce an amendment to the main motion to ensure that the system will be on a voluntary and contributory basis with special assistance to those who are unable to pay the entire costs themselves. The Liberal and L.P.P. groups will act in the capacity of secondary oppositions.

John T. Sangster, who will act as Minister of Health and Welfare for the government, will introduce the Bill. It will take the form of an Act designed to completely re-organize the health services of Canada in order to provide every citizen with full medical, surgical, and hospital care including dental and eye services, as well as the supply of drugs and appliances without cost to the individual.

Government spokesmen further explain that the bill provides for an extension of preventive measures, and is to be administered in the main by the provinces, while the total cost will be borne by the Federal Government.

Full text of the Bill is at present being considered by the opposition parties. The Bill, together with the names of cabinet members will be released on Tuesday following the second caucus of the CCF party. They will both appear in The Daily on that day. This is the fifth and final session of Model parliaments this term.

Mr. Hartt who represents a district roughly approximate to Cartier in the Provincial Legislative Assembly is well known for his personal vigour and whip lash repartee in debate. "Time" last week printed the story of when Premier Duplessis, angered by Mr. Hartt's stinging attacks, turned to Mr. Godbout, leader of the Liberal opposition and demanded, "have you no other Jew here to speak for you?" Before Mr. Godbout could reply, Maurice Hartt was on his feet, and pointing to the crucifix hanging above the speaker's throne, exclaimed, "there is one who has been here for two thousand years and still you have not heard him."

Mr. Hartt is one of four candidates in the coming election to be held on the 31st of March. Other candidates represent the Bloc Populaire and Independent Liberals while the L.P.P. has nominated City Councillor Buhay.

Buhay was beaten by Hartt in the last Provincial election when the Liberal candidate piled up a majority of nearly 3000 over his Communist opponent. Mr. Hartt's organizers are now using the slogan "he did it before and he can do it again" in their efforts to capture Cartier from the L.P.P.

All students are welcome to this meeting and the Liberal Club feels sure that Mr. Hartt will try to answer all questions at the close of the meeting.

Drives' Objective Of $5000 Will Aid Many Organizations

Appeals By 3 Speakers To Be Made in Lectures

Hundreds of canvassers will collect for the McGill Combined Charities Campaign from Monday through Friday of this week. They will have two objectives, namely, to obtain a contribution from every student and to gather a total of $5,000.

The Campaign Committee has urged that canvassers attempt to contact all the people on their lists as early as possible. While this is relatively easy in Engineering and the smaller faculties, it has previously been found difficult in the Faculty of Arts and Science due to the diversity of the courses. However, class officers of this faculty, under Bob Brett, Arts and Science representative on the Committee, have lined up an impressive list of canvassers.

Lists of students have been compiled so that each canvasser will not have to contact more than 15 people, all of them in the same class as the canvasser. Similar steps have been taken in other faculties and keen interfaculty competition to reach the objective of 100% is expected.

Short appeals on behalf of the Amalgamated Charities will be made in several large lecture classes today. The speakers will be:

Mr. Murray R. Chipman, Chairman of the Welfare 1946 Campaign, Mr. O. A. Wiley, Executive Director of the Montreal Boys' Association, and Mr. V. F. McAdam, Secretary-Manager of Weredale House.

STUNTS PLANNED
The Campaign Committee has also devised other means of rousing the students' interest. Novel stunts are liable to be performed on the campus during Charity Week at any time and at any place. The first of these is scheduled to take place at about 1.05 p.m. tomorrow.

The organizations to benefit from the combined appeal are the Canadian Red Cross, the International Students' Service, the Canadian Aid to China, and the Amalgamated Charities. The latter includes the Welfare Federation of Montreal, the Federation of Catholic Charities and the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies.

Canvassers will be prepared to receive contributions in cash or by cheque. It is anticipated that they will be generous as well as numerous.

Issue Warning—Union Door May Be Barricaded

Since experience has proved that simply stating facts and leaving the rest to the students does not result in a successful charity drive, the Red and White Society has decided to push the campaign with a series of stunts to be run off anywhere and everywhere on the campus next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The idea came from the University of British Columbia's Joker's Club which last year helped make such a success of the UBC War Memorial Campaign by just such a series of gags. Due to their efforts a great deal of publicity and considerable small change was given to the campaign.

A committee of the Red and White Society is hard at work racking brains for inspiration. A number of novelties have already been arranged and students are warned not to be surprised at anything that happens. It is rumored that the door to the McGill Union may be barricaded and a nickel admission charged during the last three days of the campaign.

CAPERS RECORDS BROADCAST
An invitation has been extended to all students who missed the "Campus Capers" broadcast last Saturday at 2.30 p.m. over CJAD to attend a hearing of the recording which was made at the time of the actual broadcast. The cast are also asked to attend the hearing and to stay for the following rehearsal which will be held at Radio Station CKAC at 7.00 p.m. today.

A Message From the Principal

Mrs. Roosevelt, on the occasion of her visit to McGill a few days ago, emphasized the simple fact that peace can only be won if every individual works hard and persistently to achieve it.

The Charity Campaign that opens today is an opportunity to demonstrate the extent to which we have learned that lesson. The objective is $5,000; the needs challenge the imagination of every thoughtful person. "Aid to China" calls to mind the millions of suffering men, women and children in the country that has known no peace for more than a dozen years. The International Students' Service reminds us of devastated universities in other lands, of eager young men and women who have nothing comparable to our D.V.A. benefits, although they fought gallantly, and none of the educational facilities we enjoy. The Canadian Red Cross recalls our obligation to aid in the relief of famine and sickness throughout the world, and the Amalgamated Charities of Montreal is the demonstration of our neighbourly interest in the community in which we live.

Canada has played a splendid part in the winning of victory, and many of you were active participants in that effort. Canada has been the greatest source of food for U.N.R.A.A., and the third largest contributor of funds.

This Charity Campaign is a personal opportunity to show your endorsement of the Canadian effort to win the peace; a chance to make your own contribution. The success of the Campaign will reveal to the world, much more emphatically than dozens of resolutions and many speeches, the extent to which the student body is concerned about the problems of human welfare at home and abroad.

F. Cyril James.

Money Well Spent

Some topics, unfortunately, have two strikes before they even get started in any conversation. This is all the more common when the main topic is money which is being sought for people are generally loathe to part with their cash unless they are spending it on themselves. Thus, the Charities Campaign which gets underway on the campus today will have to overcome not only the usual apathy but also a definitely negative attitude.

It is very difficult to attempt to make individuals enthusiastic about giving their money to charity. However, it is not so difficult to point out the need for such campaign in our society. We at the University are very fortunate in being able to provide for ourselves or to have some one else provide for us. But we have seen for ourselves and know to be a fact that not everyone in our community is thus set up. There are those who cannot provide for themselves. There are those who need but cannot afford medical care. And so we could go on.

Are we to forget those who by force of circumstance are less well off than we? Surely no one will be able to take such a calloused outlook. Surely everyone will realize the service the charities perform. But these services require money—and we at McGill are being asked to contribute a small sum only once during the year so that in some small way we can help those who cannot help themselves.

This year's campaign is being conducted by the Red and White society which has enlisted the aid of the various clubs, societies and class executives. The canvassers have been told that in a large measure the success of the campaign depends on their efforts. They have signified their intentions of doing all that they can to send the campaign over the top by contacting every one on the campus and at Dawson. We are sure that they will be well received, for it will be money well spent.

Down the Stretch

With this year's elections only two days off, the matter of election meetings and platform discussions takes on a new significance. Although the meetings last week were fairly well attended, the importance of the positions involved and the many points on the various platforms are deserving of larger crowds. To give students a greater opportunity to meet the men in question and to allow the nominees another opportunity of presenting their aims to the electorate, the Council has planned a series of hustings for today and tomorrow which should be well received.

Today at noon in the Ballroom, the candidates for the important post of President of the Union will be introduced and will be given some opportunity of addressing the electorate. Tonight at Dawson College all candidates for the top campus positions will be presented in order to bring the elections closer to our fellow-students at St. Johns, all of whom are directly involved, for the men elected represent both the groups at Dawson and in Montreal.

Tomorrow afternoon the candidates for the main position under contest—President of the Students Society—will be under fire as they face a question period to explain their views and aims on campus life. This question period is being instituted in place of a repetition of platforms, to allow for a better understanding of the candidates and the manner in which they will perform the job.

All these meetings are most important. They are opportunities to see the men who will do the main executive jobs on the campus for the next year—jobs which affect every student. Get out to them and get to know the candidates, so that it will be with firm conviction that you vote for the best man on Wednesday.

Superb Viola Recital By William Primrose

A superb recital was presented at McGill on Friday evening, when William Primrose, recognized as the world's greatest violist, was featured soloist in the third concert of the Student Subscription Series. Mr. Primrose gave a powerful and sympathetic rendition of four major works: a Concerto by Handel, a Sonata by Brahms, the Milhaud Sonata on 18th Century melodies, and a Suite by Bloch. Throughout the recital his playing never varied from its high standard, always powerful, and characterized by a rich, deep, vibrant tone that filled the hall. Technical skill was combined with deep feeling; every mood was followed and every selection received its own special interpretation.

Every taste in music was gratified. From the stately Handel to the savage Bloch, Mr. Primrose caught the spirit of the music. The Bloch Suite was perhaps the high point of the evening, as the depth and tragedy of the piece suited the violist's powerful, intense playing. But equally impressive was the grace and timing of the Milhaud Sonata, and the technical skill of Paganini's Caprice number 24, one of the encores.

The four encores included the Paganini Caprice a Beethoven selection, two of the gay and popular San Domingan dances of Arthur Benjamin, and following this, in contrast, a slow moving Litany by Schubert. David Stimmer at the piano provided an excellent and sympathetic accompaniment, especially in the Bloch Suite.

Mr. Primrose has played at McGill in 1930. He was then on his first concert tour as violist, with the London String Quartet. We have already told the story of how Mr. Primrose came to take up the viola. He had been playing it along with the violin, when in 1930 the violist of the London String Quartet fell ill while on a North American tour. A telegram was sent, and Mr. Primrose came to this continent. And on that very first tour he played at Moyse Hall.

A charming and gracious person, Mr. Primrose delighted this reporter by remembering the name of the hall, and the date of the appearance. In view of his momentous and brilliant career since, that is a feat of memory. Mr. Primrose added that he always liked playing for university audiences. The students were alert, interested, and receptive.

Many of the students travelling to Europe this summer will be able to hear Mr. Primrose play at the Edinburgh Music Festival. Although the details have not been settled yet, the Festival will last about three weeks, and Mr. Primrose will be playing—every day—from about August 28 to September 2 or 3. He will do some solo work. The Walton Viola Concerto has definitely been decided on—the rest of the program is not yet determined.

Also at the Edinburgh Festival, Mr. Primrose will play what he likes best, chamber music. A quartet will be arranged, with Joseph Szigeti playing the violin, and Arthur Schnabel as featured pianist. Mr. Primrose had his own quartet, before the war. His performance of the Mozart Trio "Divertimento in E Flat Major" has been recorded by Victor, with Arthur Rubinstein and Emmanuel Feuermann. Also recorded has been his interpretation of Dohnanyi's "Serenade in C Major" with Emmanuel Feuermann and Jascha Heifetz.

The management of the Student Concerts are to be congratulated on bringing Mr. Primrose to McGill. We hope he will pay us a third visit, very soon, to delight us again with his inimitable playing of the viola.

FRENCH VIOLINIST RETURNS

After an absence of 18 years, Jacques Thibaud returned to the Montreal concert stage last Thursday evening, and again thrilled an enthusiastic audience with delicate and moving interpretations of Franck, Mozart, Debussy and Ravel.

Mr. Thibaud showed his talent and skill to the best advantage in the Mozart Concerto in D Major. The cadenza in the Allegro movement especially showed his understanding and mastery of Mozart. In the Adagio, the muted tones were true, and the pianissimo was exceptionally delicate and gentle.

The Franck Sonata was played with feeling and meticulous attention to detail. The Debussy also had the same detailed rendition. The Sonata was played lightly, and towards the end with liveliness and sophistication.

Closing the recital were several short pieces: the Habenera of Ravel, the Spanish Dance of Granados, and Rondo Capriccioso of Saint Saens. These selections showed his excellent technical skill. Mr. Thibaud was ably accompanied by Marius Flipse at the piano.

jazz concert terrific

Saturday night's jazz concert at His Majesty's presented to the Montreal public some of the most outstanding men in the jazz world today. This was the fourth in the "Jazz at the Philharmonic" concert series presented by Norman Granz.

The programme opened with "The Philharmonic Blues", which is an excellent piece of music and gave everyone a chance to prove his worth, and because of that should not have been placed first in the programme, as in this place it served mainly to warm up the men. "Tea for Two" opened with an introduction by Willie Smith, whose delivery was easy and tone terrific; for an alto he managed to reach some fabulously high notes. The main theme of the song was taken by Trummie Young on trombone, who plays very good jazz with some excellent ideas. Throughout the piece Buddy Rich was at his best in providing a very subtle background. After playing the "Jazz at the Philharmonic" theme song, "How High the Moon", and "Sweet and Lovely" the first part of the concert ended with a terrific version of Lionel Hampton's immortal "Flying Home". One and all, including the audience, started to go to town on that. By now all the "boys" were at their best, and best of all, with some sensational work on tenor, was Flip Phillips.

The second part of the show opened with the appearance of Coleman "The Hawk" Hawkins, who played two selections including "You Go to My Head". As an encore he played his famous rendition of "Body and Soul". Whereas Coleman Hawkins did not rise up to expectations in his playing, Flip Phillips did, and much more than that, he outdid even himself and can be considered one of the greatest tenor saxophonists today. Kenney Kersey, who had been giving out with some solid piano from the very beginning, played his own composition, "Cocktail Boogie" which was received with terrific enthusiasm. He was followed by Buck Clayton, who rendered "I Can't Get Started" on a very clean and distinct trumpet. Trummie Young, and Helen Humes who sang some good blues preceded the sensational closing number: "C Jam Blues." Beginning with the whole ensemble, it soon turned out to be a show piece for Buddy Rich and his drums. Buddy is a great showman, and during the five-minute break he brought forth about every trick of the trade that is known to man. It was certainly "out of this world", judging by the reaction of the audience, and so was the whole concert. —H. P. W.

LETTER FORUM

Dear Sir:

We, as McGill coeds, wish to add our emphasis to the recent editorials and articles stressing the importance of active interest in the forthcoming elections.

McGill elections might appear a mere "drop in the bucket" to many students, but we believe that we are not being over-idealistic in claiming that these elections are more important than they would appear on the surface.

Apathy exists not only on the international scale but is prevalent on our own campus. We realize that the candidates can not be known to all the student body. That is no excuse for not voting.

What are speeches and platforms for?—they are to acquaint students with the aims and purposes of each candidate. If you can holler at a football game and can get "hot-up" over cheerleaders, if you can read—read the platforms, if you can hear—listen to the speeches. And now that you are so accomplished, for heaven's sake, VOTE (it takes less energy)! See you at the polls.

Mr. Editor,

McGill Daily.

Through the medium of your column, we would like to tell Mr. Dionne that although his ideas expressed in his political comment, do contain some truth, most of them are exaggerations. Having been in contact with French-Canadians a great deal, we know that many facts he mentions are not true, especially where French-Canadian servicemen and the clergy are concerned. We attended French parish schools, and we know several people in religious orders. None of them disapproved of our attending an English university. And furthermore, Mr. Dionne, although you spent five years overseas, why don't you try to speak French without an English accent. Coming from St-Denis de Kamouraska, you could make a big (?) effort not to lose the beautiful language of old France which is spoken there. Many of our friends, and one of us, have spoken English all our lives, and can still claim to speak French without even a slight accent.

RITA CARRIERE,
PIERRETTE CORRIVEAU.

Dear Sir:

I cannot completely agree with Mr. C. F. Dionne's recent Political Comment. Although aware that there is room for improvement on the French Canadian scene, I cannot follow his line of thought.

To wish to reform French-Canadians, practically 100 per cent. Catholics, and to start by telling them that their creed is "out of date" and to add that their clergy is responsible for giving them a bad name during the war is not Dale Carnegie, in fact is itself intolerant and insulting.

To state that education in Quebec is "narrow and biased", based "on an absolute philosophy that cannot be questioned" is misrepresentation of a system of education so well described by Mr. Bovey in "Canadien". Mr. Dionne is doing grave injustice to the men who are doing their best to improve French Canadian education, not the least of whom is Monseigneur Olivier Maurault, Rector of the University of Montreal, who not only is himself a remarkable scholar, but happens to be the priest who asked the French Ambassador for the film.

To state that French Canada can gain greatly from Post Voltaire France is obviously true, that is why Dr. Roma Amyot, Editor of the Union Medicaire wrote last September that in the past our young doctors had gained greatly medically and culturally by a stay in France and hoped for a renewal; these doctors would be going to the France of Rousseau and Zola, and also of Maritain, Claudel, Andre Maurais, to a France about which Andre Siegfried wrote two weeks ago: "One must think but keep in sight the fact that France is largely a Latin country and in its great majority a Catholic country."

Latinity and Catholicism are part of the French Canadian character too, and anyone seeking to help and to understand French-Canadians must learn to appreciate that.

Yours sincerely,

PIERRE SENECALE.

Editor,

McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,

I was very glad to see my "Walrus" in Friday's Daily, but it almost made me blubber to find two words I wanted deleted printed in bold face. I think that the Gazette should be taken to task for this.

Sincerely yours,

CHARLES McHALE.

Dramateurs Stage Student Plays

Four one-act plays written in English 22 will be presented in Moyse Hall next Friday evening by the DRAMATEURS.

Under the supervision of William Long, Technical Director, students have been assigned the staging of these plays as class projects.

"TTS A CINCH" is a comedy of a college newspaper, by Althea McCoy, with setting by Joe Duffin and Gordon Pollock.

"UNTIMELY FROST," by Michael Sakellaropoulos, has a setting designed and executed by Eugene Jousse, Gerald O'Brien and Keith Tishaw.

"SLOW ORDER," a story of the railroad, by Creighton Douglas, has scenery built and painted by Gordon Dorey and Creighton Douglas. "MISALLIANCE," another comedy of error, by David McCallan, has been technically staged by Stuart Cameron and Harold Mandigo.

All details of production—writing, acting, direction and staging are by students of dramatic production courses.

The production, to be given for one performance only, is free of admission charge. All seats are reserved. Tickets may be had upon application to Elmer Hall, Director of Dramatic Productions — or reserved by students in dramatic production courses.

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CLUB

There will be a meeting of the club in the Union Music Room at one o'clock Tuesday at which Sherwin Raymond and Bob Walker will discuss Socialization of Medicine and answer any questions on this topic which may arise.

The C.C.F. are making this subject the basis of their bill for the Model Parliament on Wednesday, so it is important that all members and supporters, who plan to come to the Parliament, should attend this meeting and learn all that there is to be known about this matter. This will be the last Parliament of the year, so it is hoped that all concerned will turn out and make it a success, by defeating the C.C.F. Bill.

THE ELECTRICAL CLUB.

The final meeting of the Electrical Club for this year will start at 10.00 a.m. today in Room 78 of the Engineering Building. Mr. Ralph Rethoret will address the meeting, speaking on "Crystal Testing".

McGill Cagers Defeat Visiting Queens Team 43-35

Davidon Scores 17 Fraser and Taylor Each Garner Nine

By ROSS BROUGHAM

Paced by George Davidon who garnered 17 points, by Fraser and Ken Taylor who each notched 9, and by the terrific two-way play of Bobby Duford, the McGill Intercollegiate Basketball squad rode to a 43-35 win over a game, scrappy Queen's outfit.

The score was even all the way until with eight minutes left, McGill scored 12 markers to Queen's 5. For the Kingston quintet, MacNiven scored 13 points and was a constant threat while Price with 17 to his credit played a fine game.

DAVIDON ON

After each team had notched a free throw to open the game, Price of Queen's stormed in to lay-up a neat basket, but shifty Davidon returned with three straight counters. Then Queen's featured a series of long quick passing plays which paid off with a score by MacNiven and two sliding push-shots by Price.

Duford of McGill and Queen's Dobbins were particularly effective in rallying their respective teams to offensive attacks. With Queen's ahead 11-10 with four minutes left in the first half Price and MacNiven both banked in shots for the visitors. Then Davidon took a rebound on Hoyle's shot, dropped it in and followed up with another, culminating a great passing play. MacNiven and Price were sparking the Tricolor in every play. Taylor and Price exchanged set-shots and Sammy Roth closed the first half scoring by clicking for a short basket, with McGill leading 20-18.

PRICE GOOD

Price's one-hand push shot again swished the strings and Taylor jumped in to drop in a neat lay-up. MacNiven stole the show momentarily when he whipped in four accurate long-shots. Queen's long passes and dead-on placements had given them the lead, but McGill romped right back with a Fraser field goal and picture-plays by Captain Ken Hoyle and Davidon, to bring the count to 28-28. Aggressive Bob Duford finally broke through to spin a shot in and this time the Redmen really came to life with the guards working smoothly.

Taylor showed what a fine forward he is by connecting for two free throws, and a lay-up. Hoyle set up lanky Fraser for a score off the backboards and play became wide-open. Fraser scored another in exchange for two Queen's points via free throws. Davidon's unerring aim accounted for two more points and despite Queen's pressing tactics McGill proved just a little too strong and the score at the buzzer read 43-35 for the Redmen.

McGill Intermediates Defeat Aggie Cagers

The Intermediate cagers sporting the Red and White colors didn't have to use their 14 point lead as a result of the first game played against Mac, to any advantage last Saturday afternoon, as they decisively swept over the Aggies competition to the tune of 34-28. As a result of this second win, the locals now enter into the finals in the Intermediate college section against either U. of M. or Georgians, who are now battling it out in the semi-finals stage.

In the contest played Saturday, Beaugrand was by far the best man on the floor for the McGill brigade, accounting for 9 points of the team total. Elo and Murray also showed well, garnering 7 points apiece. For the Aggies, Tenant and Watson were tops with 10 and 19 points respectively.

Western Holds Cagers Trophy For 3rd Year

London, Ont., Feb. 28.—(CUP)—The University of Western Ontario Mustangs hold on to the Wilson Trophy, symbol of supremacy in the senior intercollegiate league on merits of their easy 62-44 win over the University of Toronto here tonight. The win clinched the championship for Western for the third year in a row. Regardless of what happens against McGill next Friday night the Mustangs are in.

Bob Phibbs was the Western man that was hot last night as he rammed home 17 points with eight baskets and a foul shot, and was forced from the game with five fouls with about four minutes to go. Towering George Wearing played a bang-up game, helping himself to 11 tallies in the bargain. Harry Mayzell who scored 12 points was one of the bright lights of an otherwise dull Blue and White squad. Barry Lowes clicked with six foul shots, and a basket for eight markers.

The only time Varsity was in the lead was in the opening seconds of the game when Lowes sank one of his foul shots. Phibbs tied it up, Scott swished the twine for a field goal, and the Western rout was on. At no time in the game did Varsity present any serious threat.

Coed Cagers Lose Grip on Bronze Baby

The Red Coed cagers lost their grip on the bronze Baby trophy, emblematic of the senior championship, when they were defeated by the Varsity female Blues to the tune of 25-20 in a sudden death game at London Saturday night.

Leaders in a losing cause for the Redwomen were Louise MacFarlane and Bobbie Fenton with ten and six points respectively. For the Blues, the identical twin power-house of Grace and Marion Barnett were top scorers in the two-day round robin.

On Friday the Montreal sextet had little trouble in disposing of the Gaieties from Kingston by a 27-22 count. Tall Louise MacFarlane was again high scorer, and her eleven points for the evening topped the individual totals.

Varsity had a field day of it at the expense of the Purple and White from London and swamped them 22-9. The Coed Mustangs lost again to the Tricolor on Saturday, 22-15.

Final standing: Toronto 1st; McGill 2nd; Queen's 3rd; Western 4th.

HOCKEY NOTICE
Saturday's scheduled Intermediate Hockey game between Dawson and Georgians was postponed.

Reds Win U of M Ski Trophy, Fifth in International Meet

Hugessen, Bishop Star in Events

Displaying close team work and steady skiing, the McGill Intermediate Ski team swept to a convincing victory over the best colleges in Eastern Canada this week-end. The red-sweatered racers took an early lead in the two-day meet held at St. Sauveur and were never seriously threatened as they piled up an aggregate of 397.4 points out of a possible 400. University of New Brunswick, in runner-up position, was far behind with 378.2 while Queen's, U. of M., Sir George Williams, Laval, Dawson and Bishop's followed in that order.

The meet, run in perfect weather by the University of Montreal, started Friday noon with the downhill on the St. Sauveur run. Pete Van Wagner from U.N.B., sped down the banked up trail which closely resembled a bobbed run with a winning time of 46.2 seconds. The Redmen, however, ran a strict team race as John Bishop laced third with 47.2 and John Turner Bone and Ted Kehoe followed within a second of him, to give the McGill team honors in this event with a scant 1.1 second margin over New Brunswick.

SLALOM

In the slalom held later the same afternoon, Kehoe, Turner Bone and Hugessen, the first three McGill runners, took the long tricky course smoothly and deliberately to post times of 1:16, 1:26 and 1:17 seconds respectively. However it became apparent that Laval was threatening, when three of their men had better times. At this point coach Chris Gribbon sent up word to John Bishop in the clean up spot to open up, and "Bish" gave it all he had as he sped through the flags from the top of the T-bar to the foot of Hill 71 in 1:04.3 seconds, to win the race nearly four seconds ahead of Laval's Grondin.

The Red team took second place in this race to the Quebec boys, but when the day's results were compiled for downhill slalom and combined, McGill had an eight point edge on Laval, while the Dawson team, sparked by steady Baird Davis, was in third place.

CROSS COUNTRY
In Saturday morning's cross country event, the Redmen clinched the meet as they took 1st, 3rd and 13th places, while Laval, their closest rivals, failed to enter. Andy Hugessen negotiated the 8-mile course (Continued on Page 4)

McGill Takes Intercollegiate Badminton

Led by the brilliant playing G. Simpson, McGill's badminton team swept the Intermediate Intercollegiate Championship by winning every event in the tournament against Western.

Simpson won the Quebec open tournament a few weeks ago and will soon be competing in the Dominion Finals in Vancouver. In the Intercollegiate event, he won the first single in handy fashion from Jack Barber, Western captain, and with L. McKewan, won the first and second doubles event. The only really close match was between B. Love and Bill Brown of Western. Love dropped the first game 9-15, but came back to win two thrilling extra point games 17-16 and 18-15.

The results are as follows: G. Simpson vs. Jack Barber, 15-5, 15-6; Ray Dussault vs. Cam Wallace, 15-4, 15-5; G. McFarlane vs. Paul Cropp, 15-3, 15-5; B. Love vs. Bill Brown, 9-15, 17-16, 18-15; L. McKewan vs. J. Evans, 15-3, 15-6.

Doubles: Simpson and McKewan vs. Barber and Wallace, 15-9, 15-5; Simpson and McKewan vs. Brown and Cropp, 15-7, 15-3; Dussault and MacFarlane vs. Barber and Wallace, 15-3, 18-16; Dussault and MacFarlane vs. Brown and Cropp, 15-8, 15-5.

SQUASH EXHIBITION
In a squash exhibition match against McGill Grads, the McGill boys again suffered defeat. The matches were, however, very close and the fans got quite excited over many of the rallies, of which the University Grads won four of the five scheduled.

Of the three boxing bouts in which the McGill men were featured they were successful in two. The results of The Athletic Nite events (in points) are as follows:

Tyler, Staniforth Pacc Home Team

By ELIZABETH TURNER BONE
Failing to follow through in their initial lead of the downhill and slalom, the Big Red Sky team dropped their title chances to take 5th place in favour of the hard-fighting all-around Middlebury squad.

Johnny Tyler started the ball rolling when he clocked the winning time of 59.2 seconds down the precipitous slopes of Mount Baldy. Right on his heels was Don Staniforth 0.6 secs behind. Both Art Bruneau and Bruce Fleming took falls. When the final team scores were computed, McGill was leading with New Hampshire 0.6 points behind.

There were several broken skulls but no serious accidents as the trail was in excellent condition. One of the most spectacular falls of the day was that of Jack Valentine, (Middlebury) winner of the jump, who took off so far into the brush that he bush-wacked until he reached the trail again.

The slalom hill was in good condition. Hannes Schneider was on hand to watch the wide open slalom which he had set. He seemed most interested in how the competitors took an especially tricky (Continued on Page 4)

"H" followed by a gate between two boulders. Don Henderson of Middlebury had the best run of the day but Don Staniforth's combined times nosed him out of first place. This made Staniforth winner of the combined downhill and slalom. Stocky Ralph Townsend of New Hampshire, skiing on what looked like barrel staves, took third place, only 1.1 seconds behind the winner. Both Fleming and Bruneau had good runs, finishing seventh and eighth, while Tyler ran the course too carefully.

BAD BREAK

The bad breaks started the following day when John Foster equalled the longest jump but spoiled his score by a fall on the landing. Even though his second jump was equally long, he finished in 30th place. The fellows from Toronto, running in the meet for time only, did very well in this event, taking second and third place. Bakke, Toronto's star jumper, copied third place. Kaare Olsen led the McGill team by placing ninth.

The cross country finished Mc-

Gill's chances for a recovery of their early lead when it was won by Willoch of Maine with Middlebury team not far behind. Staniforth came in 8th. Bas Davis, all taped up because of his injuries on Suicide Six, started off in fine style but found the going too hard. The banquet following the meet was held in the Chalet Cochand dining room where the cup was presented to the winning team amid an appropriate amount of celebration.

Join the RED FEATHER CRUSADE!

AN ARMY OF MERCY BRINGING HOPE TO THOUSANDS

THE RED FEATHER! ... symbol of unselfish sacrifice. A symbol that brings to life those Merrie Men of England... Robin Hood and Little John... crusading Richard Lion Heart... King Arthur and his Court. This was the Age of Chivalry... when strong men rode to wage their fight for right.

Today, it represents a badge of merit... a sign that signifies our willingness to share... our deep desire to give opportunity to those in need. It's the badge of Welfare Organizations from Baffin Land to Mexico... from the shores of the Atlantic to where the sun goes down!

Within this great and teeming city there are thousands needing help... orphans, and neglected children... and the gutter is not good enough for these. Juvenile delinquents... with only you to help them. The old, the sick, and feeble... whose next-of-kin are dead or far away. All these must have your help. It is up to each of us to cheerfully and generously give... to carry our fair share of social obligation.

Join the Red Feather Crusade, and extend a helping hand to those in need. Figure closely the amount that you can give. Sacrifice some luxury and give what you save as an additional contribution. It will bring untold happiness to someone... and to you!
